John Loves His Golden Locks—Only To Find Hair Has Turned Purple

By GLADYS GLAD

"America's Most Famous Beauty"

I received a very pathetic letter from a young lad the other day, John was his name—at least, according to his birth certificate. But the boys all insisted on calling him Goldilocks.

And since he was only 15, you can well imagine how that appellation annoyed him. For at the tender age of 18 years, John thought himself a very handsome fellow.

The trouble arose was that John possessed a crop of glossy, golden-blond hair. Most women would have been delighted with such hair, but to John, it was a source of grief. So one night he procured a bottle of the darkest of hair dyes and saturated his hair with it. And when he awoke the next morning, he found that his hair had turned a violent shade of purple.

The reason that I'm telling you John's story, is because I hope it will be a lesson to you. For any woman who experiments with dyes of the kind she knows nothing in, in my estimation, is a very foolish individual. First of all, the women who dye their hair must be sure that the new hair shade that she adopts will become her. In the second place, she must be positive that the dye she employs is a safe and reliable one. And, in the third place, she must be sure that the method she employs for administering the dye is the correct one.

I personally am not much in favor of dyeing of the hair at home in any case. Of course, there are safe and effective dyes now on the market. But there are also a good many unscrupulous dyes that are ruinous to the scalp and hair, and may even cause dermatitis. And why a dye test is now generally required in all beauty shops before any dye is applied to the scalp. In addition, the effect obtained through the use of ingenuously selected or administered dyes is often very hard and artificial. And coloring badly applied will tend to throw the natural color harmony out of balance, and may make the hair dry and brittle. In my opinion,

Youngest Child Need Not Be Family Goat

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a woman of 28, going to be married soon, and my fiance and I have planned to have a home of our own. I am the last child of my family to get married and my mother is not willing for me to leave her, although my father is living. I have helped support the family for many years longer than the other children and I now feel that I have a right to my own home and to live my own life. My mother married when she was very young and left her mother. Why shouldn't I have the same privilege? What would you suggest I do?

Dorothy Dix

You have sacrificed a great deal to your family and it is time for you to quit being the family goat. Let the other children chip in and help support father and mother if they need help. Don't let them be the whole burden upon you and upon your husband, as will surely happen if you live with mother and father.

There are many reasons, aside from the joy and interest that every bride has in going to housekeeping, why a young wife should set up her own home instead of going to live with her parents.

One is that it domesticates them. In one of Dickens' stories two young men set up a kitchen in which nothing was ever cooked because of the moral influence it would have upon their characters. And it is true that pots and pans and tables and chairs do anchor people to their own firesides. Many a bride who had run after a husband and walk out on him after a spat with her husband, may because she can't bear to give up her kitchen curtains and the new dishes they are paying for on the installment plan.

And especially every young couple should be by themselves during the first year in which they are getting adjusted to each other. They can have all their rights in private without either of their families standing on the sidelines hearing and dictating to them on each other.

And still another reason why Percy and Annabelle should go to housekeeping as soon as they are married—and stay by themselves, for that matter—because what father doesn't know about his laws doesn't hurt her and neither does it hurt Percy and Annabelle.

Many a marriage that would otherwise have been happy is broken up by Mother's pointing out to the young couple that they are doing this or that. Percy and Annabelle are a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, and ten cents for each copy, to be sent by post.

Answer:

Pay no attention to your mother's efforts to keep you with her, but go along and establish your own home. That is best for you and your husband, and in the end it will be the best for your mother also because it will save the inevitable conflicts and misunderstandings that are sure to occur when two families try to live together.

MORE ELASTIC EDUCATION IS NECESSITY

A. P. Tingley, Technical School, Speaker Before Kiwanians

That education today is too much dominated by the higher institutes of learning, was the statement made by A. P. Tingley, Edmonton Technical school, who was guest speaker at the regular luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club held in the Macdonald hotel Monday noon.

Speaking of the requirements of an education today the speaker stated that it was only fitting that parents and teachers should make closer contacts. "It is time that we faced the fact that education means more than the mere imparting of knowledge," said Mr. Tingley.

SYSTEM TOO RIGID

The need for new ideas in the educational system today was stressed by the speaker who stated that education to offer traversed a rigid system.

Social orders, said Mr. Tingley, were constantly undergoing changes and it was necessary to devise an educational system that would take adequate account of every change.

Speaking of the changes necessary in the educational system of today, Mr. Tingley said that the fact that modern and bright children like hard to learn side by side with the duller children.

Vocational guidance, he said, was not educational guidance but the giving of information, experience and advice to the student on the choice of a vocation.

"Only four per cent of the pupils of today reach the higher educational school," said Mr. Tingley. "We should be more concerned with the remaining ninety-six per cent."

ADJUSTMENT NEEDED

Any system that permitted individuals to study for years without any particular aim in view was entirely wrong, he said. "The youth of high school age needs adjustment and we must see that they get it," added Mr. Tingley.

Three new members who were admitted to the club during the luncheon were: C. A. Buchanan, Canadian National Railways; Col-

Mort Gets Extended Broadcasts

Smiling Morten Downey, famous radio star, has reason to be happy over his new contract which gives him two national network broadcasts each week.

Appeal for consideration of the people of the Crown's West Press was made in the legislature on Monday by George E. Cruickshank, independent, Rocky Mountain.

He outlined difficulties the population was encountering as a result of lack of regulation of the coal industry.

He also urged that mine rescue cars be given greater attention.

Attention was drawn to the fact that at Coleman one mine got a large order from the railways and had a payroll last Saturday of $45,000 while others got little or nothing. He forecast that there would be 60,000 applications for relief in the near future.

MAY REDUCE AGE LIMITS ON PENSIONS

Initial Member Moves For Readjustment in Legislature

Reduction of the age limit for old age pensions from 70 to 60 years and in the case of war veterans to 50 years, was advocated in the legislature on Monday night in a resolution moved by Donald Cameron, U.F.A., Innisfail.

Debate on the motion was adjourned but not before an amendment had been moved by Hector Lang, Liberal, Medicine Hat to the effect that "in the opinion of this legislature the evolution of a scheme of old age pensions applicable to all persons more than 60 years old, is advisable and as a result of cases of disability, the age should be placed at 60 years and in cases of disabled war veterans at 50 years."

Debate was adjourned by Chris Pattison, Labor, Edmonton.

Speaking to his motion, Mr. Cameron stated that lowering the age limit would add 1,800 to the provincial old age pension list.

He believed all residents should be insured at 60 to give the younger people a chance. He declared that in average old age pension now was $17.86 a month and he strongly advocated an increase.

His computations were that his resolution was adopted the budget would have to be increased by $1,800,000 and $7,000,000.

Hugh C. Farthing, Conservative, Calgary, agreed in principle with the resolution and thought that eventually some plan would have to be put into effect.

Milton C. McKern, U.F.A., Lacombe, agreed in principle with the motion and thought that eventually some plan would have to be put into effect.

Popcorn Germinated In Well Again and Very Fond of Edible

WINDSOR, Ont. Feb. 26.—The Windsor Cities only boy trippers made news again Monday when it was disclosed that Edward, one of the three-year-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Mansell, of Tremblay, had had a popcorn seed

Dr. Ernest Bragiel, specialist, performed the operation. Edward is well today and like his brothers, Charles and Henry, still is an avid popcorn eater.

Truck Plunges Through Ice On Baptiste River

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Feb. 26.—It started snowing Friday night, to the delight of all those in the timber business here, as the roads were almost impassable owing to ice. Those hauling from across the Clearwater river with stighs had to cease, as the long bridge was completely bare of snow, whereas it was the only good part of the road for the trucks.

A truck loaded with ties, belonging to the Western Tie and Timber Company, went through the soft ice on the Baptiste river on Friday, damaging the truck and losing its load, but the driver was able to get clear.

The company has been using the ice of the river for a run for three weeks, and the continued mild weather has softened the ice until it is very dangerous.

It anything more than a pious resolution to Ottawa was desired, the age limit be set at 60 for civilians and 50 for war veterans. He did not think any contributory government would object to the amendment.

STRIKES BLOW FOR LOWERING TARIFF SCALE

Vegreville Member Introduces Vital Subject Into Legislature

Declaring that the prosperity of the agricultural industry depended on finding profitable markets for the products of the province, and contending that existing tariffs were a hindrance to the Canadian farmer in finding markets for his surplus products but also greatly increased the cost of production, A. M. Matheson, U.F.A., Vegreville, introduced an attack in the legislature Monday. He moved a resolution that the legislature, through the government, issue in every possible way for a general reduction in all tariffs with a view not only of reducing production costs, but for facilitating trade with other countries that will expedite the sale and export of agricultural and other exportable products of Canada.

Exception to the wording of the motion was taken by Hon. J. B. Brown, Liberal, Calgary, who moved an amendment, as follows:

WOULD SUBSTITUTE That the resolution be amended by striking out all words after the word "whereas" in the first line and substituting the following:

"The prosperity of Alberta depends upon the success of the primary industries of agriculture, lumbering, mining and stock raising, and the development of the natural resources of the province, and the proper marketing of the products of the same; and

The Eskimo hockey team passed out of existence yesterday—least, so far as this season is concerned, it not permanently.

News that the Edmonton and Calgary clubs of the Northwest Hockey League would be forced to disband came as a surprise to everyone.

However, when Calgary was unable to meet its obligations to visiting teams, the league president decided that Eskimos were out of the league.

Roche and Manager Art Gagne are sure to carry on next year, whether it be in Edmonton or in some other city.

Pepper's South Siders, after knocking at the door in three straight games, slipped up in a tie with the Canadians in the Junior Hockey League's championship playoff last night by marking up a 2-1 victory.

HERBIE STUART SUFFERS INJURY

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 26.—Herb Stuart, veteran goaltender for London Tecumstahs of the International Hockey League, will be unable to play for some days as a result of an eye injury suffered while playing in Syracuse Sunday night.

He's Forced To Disband His Eskimos

—BY BILL LEWIS

With a surprised group of athletes receiving their salary checks marked "Paid on Feb. 26," the Eskimo hockey team was disbanded Monday afternoon, the result of internal difficulties in the Northwest Professional League that yesterday brought about a partial break-up of the circuit.

Coming as a shock to thousands of Edmonton fans and even the players themselves, Edmonton and Calgary entries in the pro league passed out of existence for the remainder of this season, at least, with the announcement from President Gordon R. Leitch that the Portland and Vancouver clubs would not make their scheduled road trips to Alberta.

Reasons for the blow-up of the league are two-fold: (1) That Calgary could not meet its guarantees to visiting teams from the coast; and (2) That Eskimos refused to pay Portland and Vancouver clubs under a re-arranged schedule, but the two Alberta clubs "out," it was definitely made known in the statement from President Leitch.

Eskimos were billed to play in Calgary Monday and then return to be hosts to Portland and Vancouver, but these plans were knocked all out of kilter when Henry J. Roche, Eskimo owner, received a call from the league.

The action of the league was considered a weak way out of the difficulty by those in close touch with the situation, who felt that the Eskimos and Vancouver should have been forced to come here for their remaining engagements, as the Kaks had gone through with both their road trips to the coast cities.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 26.—Gordon R. Leitch, president of the Northwest Hockey League, announced Monday that the league would distribute its games among the coast cities.

Eskis Must Disband

Under these circumstances it will be necessary for the Edmonton club to disband. President Leitch said it is uncertain what disposition of the Calgary franchise will eventually be made, but that there will be no change in the Edmonton franchise.

Plan Earlier Playoffs

Seattle, Portland and Vancouver are in the thick of a fight for playoff berths and all are assured of making the grade, but in an order yet to be determined. Leitch said that with rearrangement of the schedule, it is probable the playoffs will be started a week or two days earlier than scheduled.

Dougie Hargreaves Gets Winning Goal As Mates Win, 2-1

—BY JACK DEAKIN

A multitude of 5,000 frantic fans, many seeking that long-anticipated, long-hoped-for event—defeat to Saway-Canadians—saw a tri-colored square of South Side Athletics sweep through the orange and black forces for a 2-1 triumph in overtime. It was Canadians' first defeat in 16 games, breaking the string of deadlocks at three, and placed the Junior Hockey playoffs all even with one win and a tie of the games each.

As a result of South Side's victory last night, a sixth game will be necessary to decide the bearer of the city championship crown, and it will be played Wednesday night over the east-end ice surface.

DOUG HARGREAVES PLAYS HERO ROLE

Doug Hargreaves, much bandaged, near crippled, but still South Side's rugged defence star, scored himself into the spotlight's glare, and caused a crowd to go frantically wild with excitement when he rifled home the winning tally at the nine minute mark of overtime.

As in three previous games, Canadians took the lead. They gained a one-goal margin in the second period, but before the chapter ended South Side had rallied to dead lock the count. They battled through the third period and an overtime session before Hargreaves put a garish finish to the game.

Ted Allan broke up a South Side power play at the three-minute mark, beat his way down the centre channel until he hit the defence, then slipped and slipped a forward pass to Leo Hagen, who scored.

SASKATOON, Feb. 26.—Saskatoon Standards, successors to the Saskatoon Quakers, Allan cup finalists in 1933, made their exit last night from the playdown trial as North Battleford Beavers defeated them on home ice 5-3 in two

...in the third period of overtime, to overcome a goal deficit incurred Saturday night and win the round 7-6 Saturday night. The Hawks won at North Battleford 3-2.

Last night's game was hard fought from the start and was quite rough, with both sides handling the crushing bodycheck.

It was replete with thrills, the Beavers having a 3-1 lead with 50 seconds to go in regulation time, only to see Standards score a goal in the final seconds. Then, Standards scored again in overtime and Beavers kept in the running with a goal in the dying minutes of the first overtime period. In the second overtime period, the Beavers notched the all important counter and earned the right to meet Prince Albert Minto to decide the northern title.

OVER CHARGES ON HIGHWAYS ARE EXPOSED

Montgomery Denounces
Govt. for "Enormous
Waste" of Money

Charging "enormous waste" of money by reason of an over-estimate of the cost of the $15,000 in the Pigeon Lake highway and extravagance by the recently-sworn-in members of the provincial administration in the purchase of a fleet of motor cars, High J. Montgomery, Liberal, Wetaskiwin, speaking in the debate on the government "deserved the most severe censure" for such lavish spending of money when it could be put to better advantage elsewhere.

Mr. Montgomery extensively reviewed various phases of provincial activity, subjecting many departments and activities to the most rigid scrutiny and analysis.

FIAT GRADE

Montgomery drew attention to the fact that the government last year travelled 147 miles of highway, with first class graveling. At the same time there had been 711 miles of standard grade built. Thus there remained ungravelled 344 miles of standard grade.

"This amount of grade represents an investment of $100,000 and $750,000," he declared. "It would have been a first class graveling the $150,000 loan received last year from the province for the purpose of highway purposes. But instead the minister of public works let contracts for 100 miles of standard grade when he did not have enough money to protect the investment made. But I suppose because we are on the eve of an election something had to be done."

Mr. Montgomery charged that the government had over-estimated the cost of graveling the Pigeon Lake road and that gravel had been taken from the Ponoka pit when there were pits with good gravel closer at hand, half-way between the pits.

"People of that area claim that the gravel in this pit is good enough for any highway in the province," he said. "If this pit is good enough, it would have been from $12,000 to $15,000 saved and this amount represents the excess paid for the work."

HEAVY CHARGE

Charges were leveled by Mr. Montgomery that contractors were being paid drivers for the overland, to which he said the drivers were entitled. The government was using power to compel the contractors to pay and he demanded that this power be used. He said that where he knew the overland amounted to $10 per mile.

The bridges of the provinces were in a really deplorable condition and in this connection he subjected the government to a severe verbal lashing for its negligence.

"Why," he declared, "it would take $50,000 to replace the bridges now needing replacement." He then suggested it might be well to increase the bridge fund, and to make provision for the overland, even to the extent of cutting down road spending, which he said were of no great benefit without the bridges.

Much could be done by the government to renovate the lands and mines department, which he scored the provision prohibiting a constable giving work to a land even to a neighbor. He wanted the regulations changed so that the timber could be given away instead of burned.

"Many things in the lands and mines department need attention," he claimed. "The government should be sympathetic and the changes ought to be made."

Mr. Montgomery, in tendering his congratulations to the new members of the cabinet, said that their tenure of office would be short, as the cabinet was so young that they would be attacked to backbones or private life.

VEGETABLES ATTACK

Mr. Montgomery lashed out in a vigorous attack on the government for its recent policy of a "fleet" of new motor cars. He said that Hon. George Headley here rose and asked for a definition of "fleet."

Continuing, Mr. Montgomery lashed out and charged that new ministers had been in excellent chance to give a lead in economy by the expenditure of $100,000. But no, they had spent public money on cars and provinces much better able to bear the expense, had dispensed with their cars.

"Not content with using these cars for public business, they have used them extensively in their private affairs," he declared.

He denounced the new ministers for "embarking on election campaign speeches by using public money to give them instead of going to the office to give the people a lead in economy."

The attack on Mr. Baker on L. A. Giroux, Liberal, Grouse, was charged by Mr. Montgomery as being purely political.

An extensive analysis of the public debt of the province, which he said was $100,000,000, whereas in the last quarterly statement of the government showed the total debt, inclusive of guarantees, was $150,000,000.

"This," declared Mr. Montgomery, "is an increase since 1921 of $50,000,000 or an average of about $6,000,000 a year. For the year 1934-35, the total debt was increased by $50,000,000."

QUESTIONS BOND ISSUE

Mr. Montgomery could not see where this sort of government was going to end.

He attacked the last bond issue of the government, claiming in view of the falling bond market, when it was committing itself to a four and one half per cent interest rate for 20 years.

Mr. Montgomery also urged that bonds should be issued at additional subsidies.

He urged that the Livestock Encouragement Act in the last three years, had set the province adrift.

But I suppose because we are on the eve of an election something had to be done."

Mr. Montgomery charged that the government had over-estimated the cost of graveling the Pigeon Lake road and that gravel had been taken from the Ponoka pit when there were pits with good gravel closer at hand, half-way between the pits.

"People of that area claim that the gravel in this pit is good enough for any highway in the province," he said. "If this pit is good enough, it would have been from $12,000 to $15,000 saved and this amount represents the excess paid for the work."

HEAVY CHARGE

Charges were leveled by Mr. Montgomery that contractors were being paid drivers for the overland, to which he said the drivers were entitled. The government was using power to compel the contractors to pay and he demanded that this power be used. He said that where he knew the overland amounted to $10 per mile.

The bridges of the provinces were in a really deplorable condition and in this connection he subjected the government to a severe verbal lashing for its negligence.

"Why," he declared, "it would take $50,000 to replace the bridges now needing replacement." He then suggested it might be well to increase the bridge fund, and to make provision for the overland, even to the extent of cutting down road spending, which he said were of no great benefit without the bridges.

Much could be done by the government to renovate the lands and mines department, which he scored the provision prohibiting a constable giving work to a land even to a neighbor. He wanted the regulations changed so that the timber could be given away instead of burned.

"Many things in the lands and mines department need attention," he claimed. "The government should be sympathetic and the changes ought to be made."

Mr. Montgomery, in tendering his congratulations to the new members of the cabinet, said that their tenure of office would be short, as the cabinet was so young that they would be attacked to backbones or private life.

VEGETABLES ATTACK

Mr. Montgomery lashed out in a vigorous attack on the government for its recent policy of a "fleet" of new motor cars. He said that Hon. George Headley here rose and asked for a definition of "fleet."

Continuing, Mr. Montgomery lashed out and charged that new ministers had been in excellent chance to give a lead in economy by the expenditure of $100,000. But no, they had spent public money on cars and provinces much better able to bear the expense, had dispensed with their cars.

"Not content with using these cars for public business, they have used them extensively in their private affairs," he declared.

He denounced the new ministers for "embarking on election campaign speeches by using public money to give them instead of going to the office to give the people a lead in economy."

The attack on Mr. Baker on L. A. Giroux, Liberal, Grouse, was charged by Mr. Montgomery as being purely political.

An extensive analysis of the public debt of the province, which he said was $100,000,000, whereas in the last quarterly statement of the government showed the total debt, inclusive of guarantees, was $150,000,000.

"This," declared Mr. Montgomery, "is an increase since 1921 of $50,000,000 or an average of about $6,000,000 a year. For the year 1934-35, the total debt was increased by $50,000,000."

QUESTIONS BOND ISSUE

Mr. Montgomery could not see where this sort of government was going to end.

He attacked the last bond issue of the government, claiming in view of the falling bond market, when it was committing itself to a four and one half per cent interest rate for 20 years.

Mr. Montgomery also urged that bonds should be issued at additional subsidies.

He urged that the Livestock Encouragement Act in the last three years, had set the province adrift.

Montgomery Denounces
Govt. for "Enormous
Waste" of Money

Charging "enormous waste" of money by reason of an over-estimate of the cost of the $15,000 in the Pigeon Lake highway and extravagance by the recently-sworn-in members of the provincial administration in the purchase of a fleet of motor cars, High J. Montgomery, Liberal, Wetaskiwin, speaking in the debate on the government "deserved the most severe censure" for such lavish spending of money when it could be put to better advantage elsewhere.

Mr. Montgomery extensively reviewed various phases of provincial activity, subjecting many departments and activities to the most rigid scrutiny and analysis.

FIAT GRADE

Montgomery drew attention to the fact that the government last year travelled 147 miles of highway, with first class graveling. At the same time there had been 711 miles of standard grade built. Thus there remained ungravelled 344 miles of standard grade.

"This amount of grade represents an investment of $100,000 and $750,000," he declared. "It would have been a first class graveling the $150,000 loan received last year from the province for the purpose of highway purposes. But instead the minister of public works let contracts for 100 miles of standard grade when he did not have enough money to protect the investment made. But I suppose because we are on the eve of an election something had to be done."
